

// CONTEXT

/ the project is a role-play game in which the user controls a situation similar to a reality show

/ the project can be whether an offline or an online experience

/ user needs a webcam to play the whole game, otherwise s/he can play only part of it

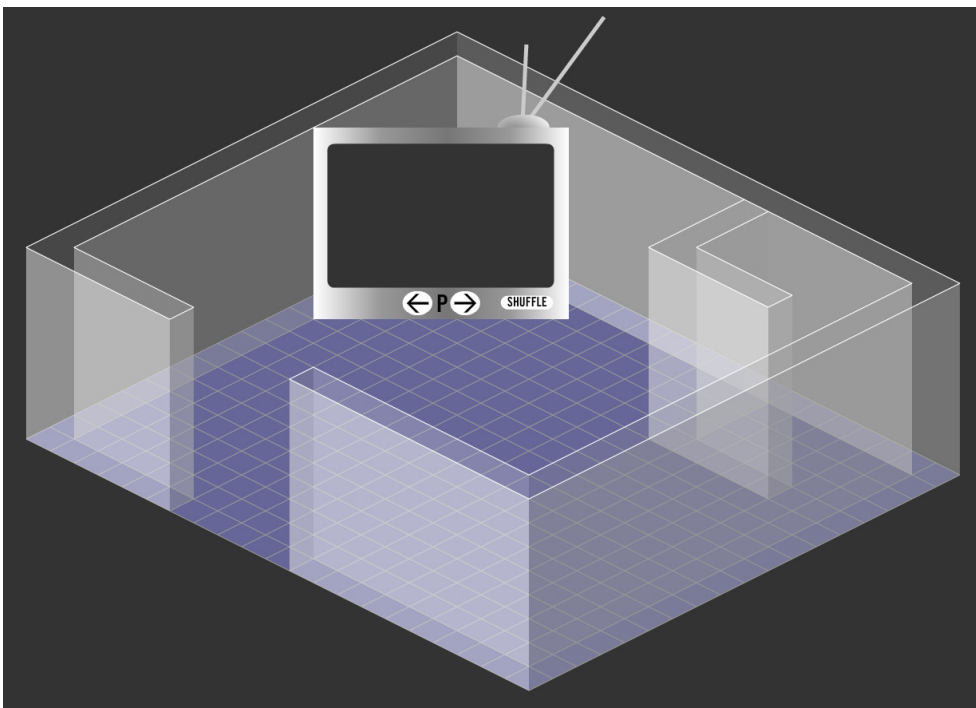

/ a multi-player functionality could be embedded in the online version but in this phase only the single-player interaction is considered

// STAGE

/ the game will be set on a single place: an empty room in an undefined space

/ the only object present in the room is a huge television set

// NARRATIVE AGENT

/ as the television set is the only object inside the room it will be always on during the game
/ TV will work as the user interface, so that user and software will communicate through the TV screen during the game

/ user can switch between five different channels, which enhance different functionalities:

channel 1 // mirrorTV (not interactive):

displays what is happening in the room in real time

channel 2 // personalityTV (interactive):

shows characters' personal information and gives user the possibility to change their personalities channel 3 // relationshipTV (interactive):

gives user the possibility to change the relationships between characters channel 4 // gossipTV (not interactive):

displays what happened before and speculates about what will happen next channel 5 // webcamTV (interactive):

displays the user's image as captured by the webcam on the TV screen;

this last mode leads to the end of the game (characters vote against the user)

/ CHANNEL SELECTOR
user can switch between the channels by clicking
on the arrows

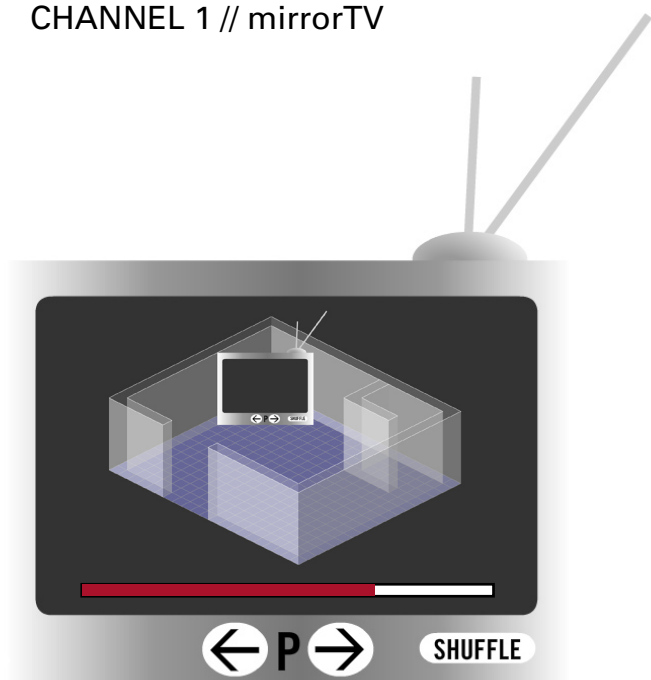

/ TIMER

everytime it reaches the end one character
has to leave the room
like in a reality show

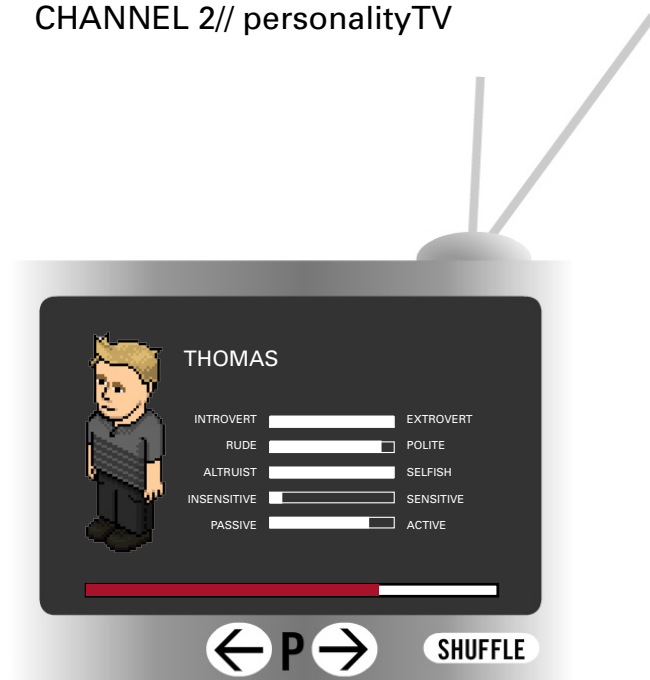

/ SHUFFLE BUTTON

software picks a random channel
when user clicks
on this button

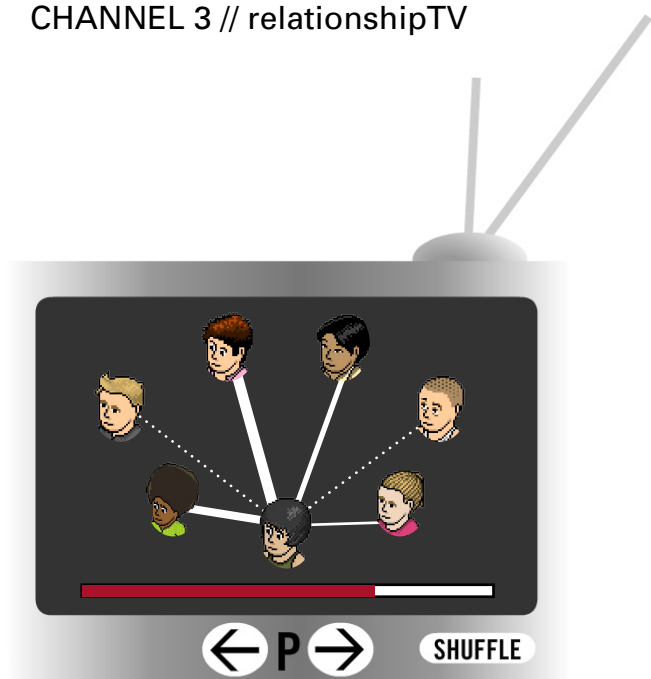

CHANNEL 1 // mirrorTV

CHANNEL 2// personalityTV

CHANNEL 3 // relationshipTV

CHANNEL 4// gossipTV
